The Glen Club entertainment, on Thursday night last, while not very well attended, was a very enjoyable affair, and netted the sum of $40, which was turned over to apply on Mr. Thompson's salary.

A farewell party was given to Dr. and Mrs. Evans on Friday night at the hall after the M. W. A. Camp was adjourned. A large number of the Bentley men by neighbors dropped in, to the surprise of Dr. and Mrs. Evans, and a pleasant evening was spent, marked only by the thought of good neighbors leaving us.

The dance in the hall was well attended on Saturday night and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present, with no thought to near the pleasure of the evening.

Mrs. Florence Maclester, of Gadsby is visiting old friends around here for a couple of weeks. Dr. and Mrs. Evans left this morning for Eckville with three car loads of household goods. The doctor is going to build and run a drug store, and also attend to his practice. This place is not so distant from the doctor's practice, in a great part will be the same as he has had, and he will still have the Medicine Valley and Rimby districts to enter to Miss Eva Mottet, who has been staying with the doctor's family here, has accompanied them to their new home at Eckville and will also make that her home for a time.

Mrs. J. H. Damron is expected home this week and Mrs. J. P. McPherson and Mrs. Poling next week from their visit in the several states. We have a very good opening for a doctor and druggist here now, and where one doctor has already received a good start. We hope that the vacancy will not remain open very long.

Remember the Snowdown Sale held for Thursday, the 29th at the G. H. Whitworth place.

Don't forget the Florence Nightingale Brigade's entertainment on Friday night, which promises to be something good. W. H. Hart who is looking over the roads for the province is working these parts now.

Bentley is the busiest little burg in the whole province.

Next week's program:

Monday evening—Social Club.

Topic "The Place of the Church in Socialism" introduced by Rev. H. R. Haddon.

Tuesday night—The Florence Nightingale Brigade's topic "Household economy," by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. J. P. McPherson.

Wednesday evening—Midweek service.

Thursday evening—Boy Scouts; topic "Eckville."

for the church to provide for the social side of a man's life. Mr. Haddon showed how the church might fill and discharge this important social responsibility.

(1) By taking more interest in the labor problems of the working man.

(2) By conducting the various forms of amusements which constitute in part the social side of our young people.

(3) By having control of the physical development of the boy in the way of gymnastics, etc.

Third—The financial place of the church. The speaker first outlined Bentley's financial plan of the church in his ideal system in "Looking Backward." Then he briefly outlined his own ideal viz., an intelligent people recognizing the place and importance of the church as a factor in the moulding of character, will therefore naturally give in proportion to the supply of the same.

A very interesting discussion followed. Mr. Bullock gave a very interesting reading which was enjoyed by all.

Miss Thompson favored us with a song, entitled "The Flight of Time."

The topic for next Monday evening will be "The Place of the Press in this System," introduced by Mr. F. Thorp.

The Anglican Church services next Sunday will be as follows: Bentley 11 a.m. Centre View 3 p.m. Rimby 7:30 p.m.

(Omitted Last Week)

On Monday last the second monthly social was held. The Club Room was filled to its utmost capacity with members and their friends. The evening was spent in homely parlor games interspersed with recitations, instrumental and vocal music, and so thoroughly did all enter into the spirit of conviviality that the hour for closing came all too soon.

It is found that these open meetings fill a decided need in our community in offering an opportunity to so many who know very little of each other, except in name, of becoming more intimately acquainted.

The subject for discussion at the meeting on Monday next is "The Relation of the Church to Socialism," to be introduced by the Rev. H. R. Haddon. A hearty invitation is extended to all.

BENTLEY BOY SCOUTS

(Omitted last week)

The last meeting of the Scouts was held in the Club Room as usual, the time being spent in various tests.

The Bentley Boy Scouts are doing fine in their tests and are working for a Kodak which is being presented to the Scout that is the best Scout for six months. Most of them have passed the Pathfinder and horse man's test.

FAIRVIEW

It is with deep regret that we have to report the death of Miss Goldie Podersky, who for the past two weeks has been suffering from blood-poisoning. Heartfelt sympathy is extended by the community to the family in their bereavement.

The board of managers of the Fairview Presbyterian church wish to announce that there will be a box social held in the church on March 20th. Further particulars later.

Don't forget the debate "Resolved that Capital Punishment be Abolished" at Fairview on Feb. 28th. Fairview is taking the affirmative.

Mr. D. Wood has returned from his trip to Ontario and reports a good time.

A three-act play, entitled "Captain Dick" was produced last Saturday by the Fairview Literary Society. The school house was crowded, and every body reported a good time. After the play, the 15 characters were all treated to an excellent oyster supper at the home of their president, Mr. Fred Butcher.

For a sprain you will find Chamberlain's Liniment excellent. It allays the pain, removes the swelling, and soon restores the part to healthy condition. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

FAIRVIEW LITERARY SOCIETY

On Saturday last the above society produced a fifteen character "playlet" entitled "Captain Dick."

At 8 o'clock the Arturda school house was filled, and still visitors arrived, and when the curtain ran up for the first act people were being turned away from the doors.

The story of the play is of the American Civil War and the title role was taken by Miss Bertha Butcher, and her handling of the part of a lady was corresponded was excellent. Of the other characters those doing special mention are Miss Laura Foster and Miss Alberta Butcher, who played the part of old maid and little dainty girl to perfection.

It appears that many visitors arrived late or were crowded out, and consequently it is more than probable that the Society will reproduce the play at an early date.

IOWALTA

The young people of Iowalta gave a surprise party for Leon Ingraham at his home here on the 21st. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

Mr. Edwards' little son has been very ill the past week. The entertainment at Fairview Saturday had a large attendance from here.

Slashing is pretty well spoiled on our roads now, but we expect more snow soon.

Do you know that more real danger lurks in a common cold than in any other of the minor ailments? The safe way is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a thoroughly reliable preparation, and rid yourself of the cold as quickly as possible. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

We buy hides—A. Gilmour.

WHY DOES GOLD ABUNDANCE MAKE THINGS DEAR

Someone asks why the increasing rapid production of gold should enhance the cost of living. On a misconception of the place of gold in our monetary system the Greenbackers and Free Silverites of the United States threaten the nation's welfare. The difficulty lies in the false analogy between the government stamp on gold and the government stamp on paper money. It is plain that the coinage of copper, or rather bronze, does give to it a far greater value than that of the metal, that the coinage of silver doubles its exchangeable value and the printing of a hundred dollar bill gives to a small piece of paper a value that is a clear indication to many that the government's power to create values is unlimited. These coins and bills are but the government's counters and cheques—promises to pay. In coinage or printing them it creates no value, but merely issues them as promises to pay out certain weights of pure gold in redemption of them. The silver coin and the dollar bill are not similar in their meaning to the gold coin. They are similar to the cheque that the merchant sits down and writes his order on his bank to pay whatever is written on it. The government can no more create money than the merchant. By writing on it a promise to pay a hundred dollars the merchant can make the paper represent a hundred dollars if he has that much in the bank, but not if he has not. That is all the government can do. It can issue its coins as tokens of value and its bills as just to the extent that it can redeem them with gold. They are its promises that it is ready to redeem them with specific weights of gold.

The coinage of gold itself is quite another matter. In this case the government makes no promise or obligation to redeem. The only reason it puts its stamp on the gold is to certify that that particular piece of gold is of standard purity and of an exact weight. The gold so stamped must find its own level of value in the world. Its worth is determined by what need there is for it, whether in paying a watch, filling teeth or lying as a reserve in bank vaults, or for paying balances in the world's clearing house. In some countries it is used as currency in people's pockets. But the volume of the world's business is a thousand times as great as any exchange of gold that ever takes place. If gold becomes more plentiful the jeweller will give less copper, less silver or smaller diamonds for it. So will every other dealer of goods of every kind. The dealer may not know—very seldom does know—why prices have gone up, but the reason is that gold, the standard of value, has become more abundant in proportion to the uses for which it is needed. The jeweller will always give pretty much the same amount of money for gold, because gold is the standard that fixes the value of money. It, therefore, naturally appears to be always at the same price in money, though it may vary in value in regard to all other things. If gold was as plentiful as iron it would not be worth so much as iron, for though it is capable of far more uses, those uses do not demand such large quantities. The production has been increasing during the last score of years at an accelerating rate, and much less than the demand for it for ornament or use, so that its value has gone down, and today people are not willing to give so much work, so much butter, or so much meat in exchange for the weight of 23.22 grains of it that are contained in one dollar. This cheapening of gold makes everything else seem to get dearer, as gold is our standard of value.

In China, not gold but silver has hitherto been the standard of value. As we know silver in the last few decades has fallen in gold value, owing to the great output from the Western States and Mexico, and lately from Coubat. That is, though gold has greatly fallen in value, silver has fallen much faster, so that the amount of silver that once equalled a gold dollar in value is now worth as much less than half a dollar. To the Chinaman our dollar has gone up in value to over two dollars in his money. A Chinaman returning to his country today after a long absence is surprised how much less he can buy for his silver dollars than he formerly could. For some time Russia used platinum as a coinage metal. Had it used it as we use gold and as the Mexicans use silver, its value as compared with our dollars would have soared. In other words the increasing demand for platinum coins were being taken from with which the supply has been against defendant. The two marriages, the first of which was the one of W. H. Messersmith, at present, based on the platinum coinage of an "orphan" that alludes in Russia, instead of getting dearer, as it said that in 1890 he was minister of the gospel in the Monroe and silver, would have not been so cheap, and a point of better solution. In 1889 he was co-owner of a day's work could now be obtained in the same amount of money as it was in 1890. Every monetary system, therefore, fluctuates with the increasing or decreasing abundance of the metal on which it is based, and the best that can be said for the gold standard is that, from the beginning of civilization till now, there has been found none better. Silver has been found even more rapidly than gold, and platinum has gone up at a rate that would have caused serious trouble. We can but hope that no new find of gold comparable to the rapid or mechanical device for cheapening production will work further devaluation.

There is no better medicine made for cough than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts on Nature's plan, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions, aids expectoration, and restores the system to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

AMERICAN DIVORCES NO GOOD HERE

Edmonton, Feb. 22.—A good many people are taking risks in getting married again when they believe they have been divorced, said Mr. Justice Stuart, in the Supreme court yesterday. "Many people run down into the States to take divorces, which may be good in the States, but they lay themselves open to be prosecuted, because our law would not always recognize that the divorce was a proper one. Where our law did recognize the legality of a divorce obtained in the States the parties would be free to marry again. If the divorce was not recognized here, the person is open to a charge of bigamy, which is an offence, and if he is convicted, he will be imprisoned, and his property added to his debts, and he will be a poor person to show that the divorce was a good one. The fact that he believed it to be so not being sufficient evidence to defend him from a charge of bigamy."

Edmonton man charged. These remarks were made by Mr. Justice Stuart in addressing the jury, which heard a case of bigamy against W. J. Bleiler. The offence was alleged to have been committed in Edmonton, August 3, 1905, the defendant going through the form of a marriage with Eugenia Frederica Holweg, then living married to one Clara Bleiler. Evidence was given by Clara Bleiler, formerly Clara Trickle, of Munroe, Wisconsin, who said she became acquainted with the defendant in 1889 and went through the marriage ceremony with him on November 27, 1890, before a minister of the Evangelical church. They lived together for twelve years, eight children being born. In 1902 defendant left her. In February 1902 she instructed Mr. Douglas, solicitor to commence divorce proceedings on her behalf. The proceedings were not brought to a trial as in July of the same year, the defendant asking her to withdraw her application and consent to live with him again. She consented and until the fall of the year they lived together in Grant Rapids.

Lady of Doubtful Age. The witness gave her age as 38, but cross-examined by Mr. W. G. Loggie, for the defence, she said she was married to the defendant at the age of 19. Mr. Loggie pointed out that she should be 41 now, if she was married 22 years ago.

Witness. I was born in 1873; you can figure it out for yourself. His lordship: Your dates are wrong. If you were born in 1873 and married in 1890, you would only be 17 years of age when you were married.

Mr. Loggie offered witnesses a pencil and paper to reckon up her age, but his lordship said they need not waste more time over that.

The witness said after defendant had left her, letters were written by another woman came to her house. It was then she commenced the divorce proceedings. She found out some three or four months ago that defendant was in Edmonton, and coming here she had a warrant issued for his arrest.

Mr. Loggie submitted that the Crown had not made out a charge of bigamy, and that the first marriage had not been proved. There was no evidence that according to the law of the State of Wisconsin, Mr. Messersmith was authorized to perform marriages. His lordship was of the opinion that Mr. Messersmith's testimony as to whether he was qualified to perform marriages was sufficient, and he asked Mr. Loggie to go on with his defence.

Defendant went into the box give evidence. Asked if he knew the witness, Clara Bleiler, defendant, looking hard at her, replied:

"I think I do. I could hardly swear to it." Defendant said he was certainly under the impression when he married Miss Helwig that he was divorced from his previous wife. The jury found the accused guilty, and he was sentenced to three years in the Alberta penitentiary.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO ADVERTISE LACOMBE

The International Dry Farming Congress will be held at Lethbridge on October 21 to 26. Prizes are being offered for grain and vegetables of all kinds and it is up to the farmers of this district to put in an exhibit worthy of the greatest farming country in the world.

Western Canada captured the prize trophies at the Sixth International Dry Farming Congress in Colorado last October and in consequence is to entertain the next Congress and Exposition—and, as the host, will offer several thousand dollars worth of trophies and prizes to be competed for by the world. Alberta will be barred from competition for some of these prizes as a matter of courtesy but hundreds of special Alberta and Canadian prizes will be offered and it is desirable that every good farmer, who can enter under the competitive rules governing entry, send or bring exhibits. Let the visitors who will be present from all over the world may know of our agricultural development.
Exhibits must have been grown without irrigation (under a net precipitation of not exceed 20 inches) by exhibitor in 1912.

experiments, put in some half acre plots of special crops, crops that you have never grown before and that are new to your section.

Let us use this great Congress to find out just what we can do in Central Alberta.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR LACOMBE

A brakeman named Connor was killed on Monday morning near Blackfalds. How the accident happened is not known, but it is thought that while attempting to pass from a coal car to a car loaded with timbers, he slipped on the snow and fell to the rails, the train passing over him and mangling him in a terrible manner; his head and both arms were completely severed from his body.

It was some time after the accident must have occurred that his absence was noticed, and the train was run back a couple of miles to where his body lay on the rails. A special train was sent out from Red Deer and the body taken to that town. Deceased lived in Calgary and has been running on the through freight.

ST. ANDREWS
The Christian Endeavor
meets this week on Wednesday at 8 o'clock.
Remember the Toronto Ladies Quartette in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, any words of commendation regarding this attraction are unnecessary for probably no combination of artists that ever toured the west created a greater furor than these talented young ladies did last season. This year they are stronger and better than ever. The program abounds in high class vocal and instrumental music.

Tickets for concert, adults 75c, and children 50c.

The vicar will assist in the musical part of the service next Sabbath evening.

METHODIST

Two helpful and inspiring sermons were preached in the Methodist church on Sunday last by the Rev. H. R. Haddon, Red Deer.

An encouraging number turned out to the Epworth League on Monday night. The subject was "Christ's Doctrine of Money," which was dealt with very ably by Mrs. Scherer.

Rev. L. R. McDonald, B. A. of Clive, will be the preacher here next Sunday as the Rev.
Locke goes to Clive to preach anniversary sermons.

ROYAL BANK TO BUILD HERE

The corner of Barnett Avenue and Nanton St., formerly the site of the Victoria Hotel, was this week sold by Frank Mc-Leur to the Royal Bank of Canada through the Bank's representative, Mr. E. J. Quirk.

The price was $175 per foot, which marks the high water mark for Lacombe realty. B.
P. Bailey closed the deal with the Bank.

While nothing definite is announced from bank headquarters, it is probable that early in the spring the construction of a large bank building on the corner will be commenced. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet on Nanton St., and is one of the best business sites in town.

DOGS POISONED

Someone got busy with poison last week, and as a result several valuable dogs are dead.
Owners of poisoned dogs are dead-very, and are taking steps to find out who the guilty party is. If he is discovered there will be police court cases.

combe.

Watch for ads and posters of these sales.

RACK FEEDING OF CATTLE

We clip the following from the last issue of the Ontario edition of the Farmers' Advocate. A large photo accompanies the article in the eastern paper.
The accompanying illustration shows a rack of feed, a system of feeding cattle pursued on an extensive scale at Lacombe, in Alberta. For particulars the "Farmers' Advocate" is indebted to A. Gilmour, during a recent visit to Ontario.
He has had some fifteen years experience in feeding under wa-tern conditions. One thousand acres of land is devoted to the enterprise, some of it used for summer grazing and some under cultivation; in addition to the use of some ranch land. Attaching the town there are about 250 acres, and the yards proper, where the winter feeding is done, cover from ten to twenty acres. Counting the two sides there are about 1,500 feet of rack space, accommodating nearly about 300 head. In summer, on an average, from 500 to 1,000 head of cattle are grazed, and as they are finished, in summer or winter, are sold off. The racks are V-shaped, about four feet clear of the ground, with the space beneath boarded up tight to form a draft-proof wind break. Cold winds blowing through racks on the joints of the legs are found to suffer the animals and cause sickness. The sides of the rack are inch stuff, and spaced three, three and a half to four inches, according to the size of the cattle.

They are supported just to be able to insert their tongues.
This spacing tends to prevent waste of hay. This season the cattle have been fed natural hay which costs about 37 per ton delivered at the yards, from 14 to 2 cents per pound, delivered at the racks. No other grain is used, as a rule, and the cattle finish and kill out well. If required there are large quantities of frozen wheat available and also barley. At the time the photograph was taken there were about 200 in the yards. The cattle are picked up from farmers during the summer and fall at from 3 to 35 cents per pound 8 and when finished, have been selling at about 44 cents, mostly by cows and heifers. Lots of such stock has been sold averaging 1,200 pounds in weight.
Large numbers of hogs are fed in the lots, following the cattle and picking up the undigested oat grain. The hay is eaten up very clean, but there is more or less waste of straw, which is tamped into the manure and used on the land being cropped.
The cattle have no other shelter than what appears in the enclosing, and the snow, being dry, is not troublesome. Calves are occasionally dropped in these yards, but usually someone along all right. They are veal-ed at four or five weeks old, and the dams finished off with the rest. Some trouble is experienced from wet tents freezing.
After the calves are weaned the cows may be put in to a "big house," and milked at once.
That cattle will finish off under such conditions, is a fact recommended to Eastern feeders who have thought basement stables necessary for fattening cattle. While some shelter is necessary in the East, evidence accumulates that well-bedded sheds, open part or all the time to the south side, are fully as good as and more economical than stone basements. The sent is indebted to the west for some suggestive object lessons in cattle feeding methods.

Andrew Gilmour left on Monday for a short visit to Vancouver and other Coast cities where he has business interests.
